SEND

Over the last 3 weeks, Mansfield Green has been working with Barnados to provide well-being sessions for parents. Everyone is welcome to attend and so far we have looked at strategies to support our wellbeing and explored evidence based research around mental health. As well as this, it is a good opportunity to meet other parents and find out about events in the area. There are still 3 more weeks left of the programme and all parents are welcome to attend. If you require any information, please speak to Miss O'Brien.

Physical activity and exercise can have a positive impact on our mental health, in lots of different ways. Did you know that Birmingham residents are entitled to free and discounted leisure activities across the region!
